

Center for Wound Care and Hyperbarics

at Memorial Hospital

What We Do

The Center for Wound Care and Hyperbarics at Memorial Hospital is working to bring hope and healing to thousands of Central Valley residents who suffer from chronic, non-healing wounds.

We work together with referring physicians to treat conditions such as:

- Diabetic Foot Ulcers
- Venous Stasis Ulcers
- Decubitus Ulcers
- Compromised Skin Grafts and Flaps
- Non-Healing Surgical Wounds
- Osteoradionecrosis and Soft Tissue Radionecrosis
- Chronic Refractory Osteomyelitis
- and many other indications

The Center for Wound Care and Hyperbarics at Memorial Hospital offers:

- Four chambers, the largest center in the area
- Amputation prevention team
- Innovative treatment techniques and advanced wound care modalities
- SensiLase testing system

At the Center for Wound Care and Hyperbarics, we use the most advanced treatments, procedures, and surgical techniques to heal even the most difficult wounds, with rates of healing well above the national average.

Who We Are

Our patients are seen by an experienced team of physicians skilled in wound care and amputation prevention. The team consists of:

- Surgical subspecialists
- Podiatrists
- Hyperbaric medicine specialists

Vipul R. Dev, MD, plastic/reconstructive surgeon, serves as the medical director.

Technology and Technique

We offer other advanced wound care modalities including skin substitutes such as Epifix and many others. We combine these with Hyperbaric Oxygen Therapy (HBOT) to energize the body's natural wound-healing process.

In addition, our physicians have access to our SensiLase system to help determine with up to 90% accuracy, if wound healing is going to occur without surgical intervention. This advanced testing system is available only at the Center for Wound Care and Hyperbarics at Memorial Hospital. Negative pressure wound therapy and compression therapy are also available.

Treatments are approved by:

- BFMC/HPN and
- GemCare

And are reimbursed by

- Medicare
- Medicare/Medi-Cal
- Kern Health Systems
- And other approved HMO and PPO plans.
