In May 2016, the Marian Family Medicine Residency Program received early Osteopathic Recognition through the ACGME and began offering an Osteopathic Principles and Practice Educational Track within the residency program. Thus, we are among the first programs in the country to use this model that is the future of Osteopathic GME. Because of the change of our accreditation status, we have dropped our AOA accreditation, and will continue with single accreditation through the ACGME.

We continue our original vision of educating students and residents who are highly skilled to participate in comprehensive primary care on the Central California Coast as we broaden the scope of our training to offer the unique curriculum comprised of numerous educational experiences designed to strengthen knowledge of Osteopathic principles and Practice and Manual Medicine Skills. We continue to partner with Opti-West for our curricular offerings.

Through a variety of innovative curricular experiences integrated throughout the 3 years of residency (see below), Family Physicians graduating from this training track will have a unique and specific set of knowledge and skills that will make them highly skilled primary care physician capable of approaching patients with in-depth knowledge of Osteopathic Principles and strong skills-based approaches to acute and chronic medical conditions.

The Marian Family Medicine Residency Program will be participating in the ERAS NRMP match which opens on September 15, 2016. We accept COMLEX and/or USMLE scores.
