

Finding the Acute Rehab Unit at Mercy General Hospital

The Acute Rehab unit is located in the Northeast section of Mercy General Hospital and can be easily accessed from the facility's only parking structure. Upon exiting the structure, look for signs directing you to the hospital lobby and emergency department. These will lead you to the hospital's North entrance. Instead of entering the hospital, continue east until you see the Acute Rehab Unit entrance on your left. Please note: there is no building access from H street.
